PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

(In place of the report of the President presented annually to the Trustees and Supervisors of the New York Orthopædic Dispensary and Hospital, there is printed herewith the address of the President at the Dedication of the New Building on January 31st, 1916, and the address of the Surgeon-in-Chief on that occasion.)

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

My first and evident duty and privilege in presiding on this occasion, by virtue of my office as President of the Board of Trustees, and representing also, as I so gladly do, our efficient and highly esteemed associate Board of Supervisors, is to extend our gracious greetings to Bishop Greer, Colonel Roosevelt and the representatives of sister institutions and other guests who have so kindly responded to our invitation to join with us in the dedication of this new building to its benevolent and beautiful work. Most of you, if not all, have a privileged right to be here, in virtue of the generous and varied assistance you have rendered this Dispensary and Hospital in its benevolent activities for many long years, and more recently in the erection of this building.

In the very few minutes allotted to me it would be impossible and undesirable that I should bring to you too many facts connected with the early and later history of this Dispensary and Hospital, however instructive and valuable they would be, since they might only confuse and render less clear certain prominent features I desire to speak of, with the hope that they in particular may leave an abiding impression upon you.

An institution such as this has a personal as well as an institutional character and influence. It is not to be thought of only or mainly from a material standpoint. Bricks and mortar, and the facilities they afford to any benevolent work, have become in these scientific days, as we ourselves well know, almost essential to the doing of fine work; but, after all, the value and success of a building such as we are today dedicating will necessarily lie in the human elements which shall direct and govern its uses.

We may, therefore, turn our thoughts at once to the enquiry as to who and what have contributed most to the character and efficiency of this Dispensary and Hospital and to its growth. Institutions as well as individuals have a birth and parentage—an inheritance to which they owe much of their later influence and usefulness. This one was well born, yet with a most democratic spirit—a fine combination. If you should read over, as I have done, the records of its inception, you would be deeply impressed in the first place by the circumstance that it grew out of actual conditions then prevailing, namely, the need and suffering of the time, and was in no measure an attempt at individual exploitation. Its founders were at that time the City's private experts in charitable and benevolent work, and because of their natural fitness were so chosen. There were then no public experts. One familiar with those days needs only to glance over their names and recall the positions they occupied in the community to see how fortunate this institution was in securing the intelligence, ability and seriousness of those early officials—lay, surgical and medical. They were the foremost citizens in their respective departments of service; there was an absence of all pretense and individual ambition; simplicity and modesty prevailed, and these characteristics have brought slowly and surely their natural results.

I have thus referred particularly to the formative period of this organization because of what has seemed to me a guiding principle that was thus early implanted, and which has had, in a greater or less degree its controlling influence all through the Institution's fifty years of existence, and out of which has come such success as has been attained. Many of the descendants and friends of the founders have kept their active interest during all these years, and have lent their intelligence, character and means to the maintenance of these early principles of the foundation; and so, in my judgment, have made it possible for the present management to secure the erection of this new and much needed building. I doubt if, at the time the money was obtained, it could have been secured by any less helpful agency.

Now, what are we, the members of our respective Boards of Management, to learn from the above brief recital without any fuller presentation of the facts of our history—a narrative which we all know would be made up of successes and failures, of lights and shadows and of encouragements and discouragements? Are the lessons not somewhat these—that this Institution was established, and has been largely maintained, by men and women of warm sympathies and great unselfishness, in whom Christian and humane ideals were happily combined, and that it now remains for us, their successors, to emulate these same active principles in our own lives and faithfully apply them to the management of this Dispensary and Hospital, to the end that with the best obtainable scientific skill and attainments on the part of our surgeons and physicians may be mingled the loving touch inculcated in these words of Scripture, “We then, that are strong, ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves,” and thus avoid in our management the danger that ever faces us, of becoming too formal and indifferent to the actual physical sufferings of those we are endeavoring to benefit, and so develop and fasten the bonds of human sympathy.

EUGENE DELANO,

President.

January 31, 1916.

ADDRESS OF THE SURGEON-IN-CHIEF

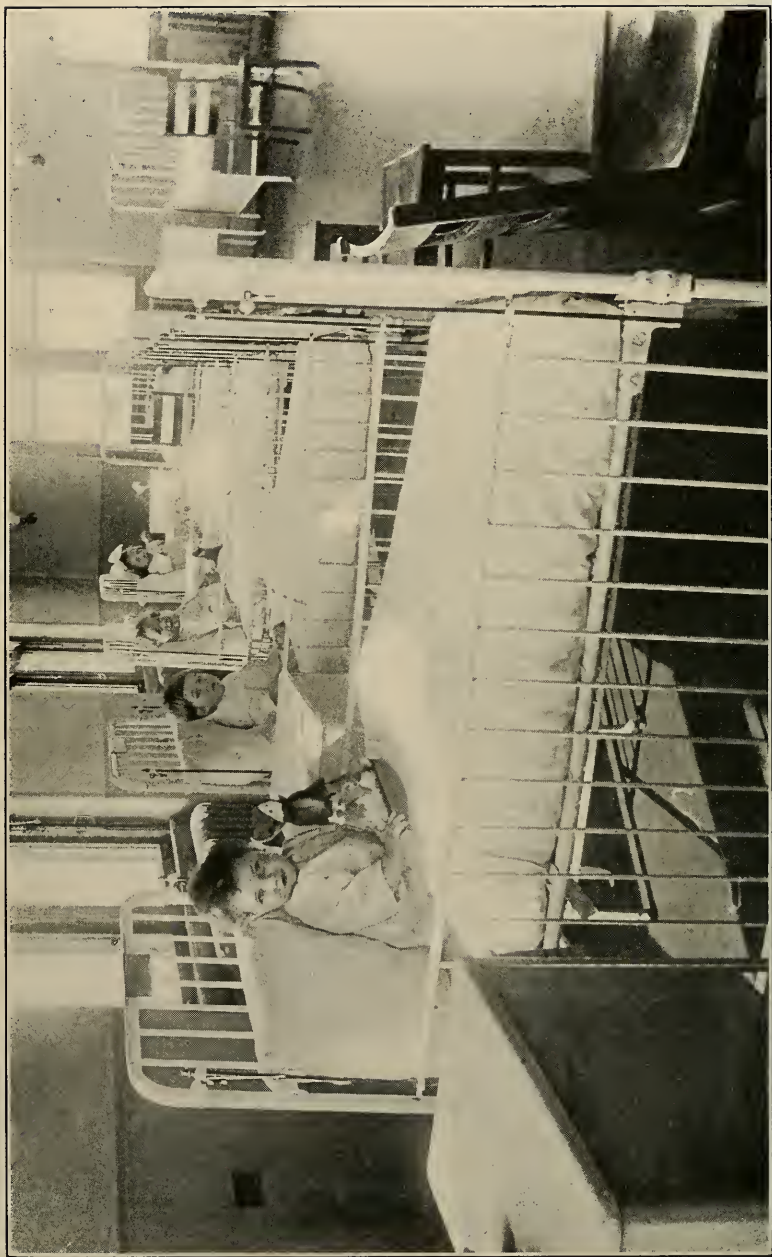

Dr. Russell A. Hibbs, at the Dedication of the New Building, January 31st, 1916.

In response to the vision of thoughtful and public-spirited men, such as James Brown, Howard Potter, Dr. Fayette Taylor, Theodore Roosevelt, and others, this institution opened its doors for treatment of the crippled, the first week in October, 1866, at 1299 Broadway. Its work was carried on in this building up to May, 1873, when it moved to 126 East Fifty-ninth street. During these first years the work was done entirely in the dispensary, and in the homes of the patients. When the move was made in '73 to Fifty-ninth street, the hospital department was opened. Here the institution's work was carried on until January 5, 1916. July, 1904, the Country Branch and Industrial School was opened at White Plains for the treatment and education of children with joint tuberculosis, and has now a capacity of 134 beds. During all these nearly fifty years, the work has been confined entirely to the treatment of chronic crippling diseases among children, chiefly, but with an ever-increasing number of adults.

The field of orthopædic surgery has widened as we have learned more and more about these diseases. It is sufficient to show the growth of the institution to compare the amount of work done ten years ago, 1905, with that of the last year, 1915. In 1905, the total number of patients treated in the dispensary was 4,229; in 1915, 10,313; an increase of 144 per cent. The total number of patients treated in the hospital, in 1905, was 197; in 1915, 539; an increase of 174 per cent. The total number of operations performed in 1905 was 190; in 1915, 630; an increase of 232 per cent. The current expenses in 1905 were $37,127; in 1915, $73,903; an increase of 99 per cent.

It seems to me that this showing gives us the right to say to the public of New York, who have furnished us the money to do this work, that it has been spent economically.

BABIES' WARD—INFANTILE PARALYSIS CASES

Our ability to do the large volume of work, especially in the hospital treatment of patients with a bed capacity of only seventy, is due to the fact that we have developed a large department of Home Hospital Work. We have seven nurses who devote their entire time to visiting patients at their homes, which has made it possible to shorten the stay of each child in the hospital, and increase enormously our hospital capacity.

Now just a word about this new building. This building has been constructed for two reasons: First, because our old one was unsanitary and unsafe. That reason is sufficient to justify it. The second, however, equally justifies it—to provide more adequate accommodations for the enormous demands made upon us for furnishing relief to the crippled. As I have already indicated, we treated last year, 10,313. We have provided a building with one hundred beds, eighty for children, ten for men and ten for women. Up to this time, there have been almost no accommodations in this city for women suffering from chronic deforming diseases, and none whatever for men. Last year, we treated 1,731 adults under fifty years of age, in the dispensary, a large number of these needing hospital treatment. Of course, our great work is among the children and should always be so, but we must not any longer neglect the adult who is handicapped in his most active period of life.

We have provided also, as you will see, adequate dispensary facilities, because it is there that the great volume of work is done. The hospital treatment of these patients is of short duration in comparison to the long periods of time that they are cared for in the dispensary, and at home through our Home Hospital Department.

All these details are necessary in order to give you some conception of our work, but what I want to say most, is, that general medicine and general surgery have failed to give relief to the patient who suffers from chronic deforming disease and by that failure done much to convince such patients themselves, and their friends as well, that they are incurable. They are not incurable, and orthopædic surgery is giving abundant proof of that fact. This institution is wholly committed and entirely concerned with securing for this class that humane and scientific enthusiasm which is so abundantly and easily given to a patient suffering from an acute disease. When we do that we shall cure them.

We must no longer be bored by the chronically sick; we must stop sending them to someone else. We must give them hope.

Now, therefore, we urge you all to look at this building with the cripple in mind, and remember that unless you cure the crippled child, you will be forced to take care of the handicapped men and women.

Here is the building and equipment; we have the vision; will you not help us to realize it by your gifts of interest, enthusiasm and money? Of the million and a half we now need, one million has been given. Won't you complete the sum? Until you do, three of our wards must remain vacant with 150 patients waiting for beds.

REPORT OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

*To the Trustees of the New York Orthopædic
Dispensary and Hospital.*

GENTLEMEN:

We have the honor to present to you the report of the Board of Supervisors for the past year.

Needless to say, our hearts and minds have been as one with yours throughout the changes and opportunities with which it has been fraught.

When, on the 31st of last January, we assisted at the beautiful ceremony which marked the opening of our new building, filled with gratitude and proud that such an instrument of service should be confided to us, we little thought how much more deeply grateful we should be when in six months the call for that service came and the blessed opportunity was ours to save some, at least, of the victims of the terrible scourge which visited our city. And now, in this precious time, when proper after care means cure for these poor children, rescue from the terrible life of hopeless cripples, and we can offer our hospital properly equipped in every sense for this great work, provided with all the means science has yet devised to bring it to success, words fail us to express the gratitude we feel for the heaven-sent inspiration which prompted our great effort and thereby gave us the means to meet this need.

In all the difficulties attendant upon new installations and arrangements, our Auxiliary Societies, as heretofore, have been of utmost help, and the practical assistance they have given and the interest they have shown, have been of the greatest value, and we thank them most heartily and are glad of this opportunity to recognize the debt we owe to them. The Orthopædic Guild continues to support three free beds, and take charge of the Girls' Wards as heretofore, besides making many gifts and giving comforts otherwise unobtainable. The Orthopædic Hospital Sewing Society has greatly increased its donations of linen, blankets, curtains, etc., owing to the very much larger needs of the new building, thereby lifting a great burden and serious expense from our already overtaxed treasury, and has supported a Free Bed as in former years. This Society was instituted for the purpose of supplying linen for the hospital, and it is most gratifying that its growth has kept pace with the growth of the institution.

The Junior Guild has continued the various activities which they have maintained in the past, increasing in scope with the needs of the larger building, and thus expressing great love and interest in their work. The Social Service Committee has again been successful in raising the amount of the salary and expenses of a visiting nurse.

The incalculable value of the services of the visiting nurses can only be known to the surgeons and the patients themselves, but we know that it multiplies by many the number of patients it is possible to treat in the hospital itself. The care given in the home allows the patient to leave the hospital long before it would otherwise be possible, thus making room for another, and possibly an urgent or critical case. Needless to say how thankful we are to the generous benefactors who made this service possible. During the year Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, Mrs. W. D. Sloane, Mrs. A. Murray Young, Mrs. Frederick Vanderbilt, Mrs. Chas. B. Alexander, Mrs. L. P. Morton, the Social Service Committee, Mrs. R. Fulton Cutting and the Children of Loving Service have each supported one, and this autumn another was given us of most touching origin. The Children of Bernardsville, New Jersey, moved by the distress caused by the epidemic of infantile paralysis, raised $900.00 for work among these cases.

The salaries of a gymnasium teacher and massage for lateral curvature of the spine have again been given us by Miss Caroline White, and Mr. Frick, and no work forms more valuable addition for the treatment of our patients or is of more direct benefit.

Our school has increased with the larger number of patients, and the fact that most of the teaching must be given at the bedside, owing to the more crippled condition of many. We must beg that our friends will give this their kind consideration and help us to meet the consequent increase of expense. We feel very strongly the necessity of this branch of our work, as it is so successful in its result. We are constantly cheered by hearing of the good standing of the patients upon their return to the public school, a proof that their instruction here is well worth while.

Our special funds are always objects of special appeal, as they provide the comforts and simple luxuries for our patients we otherwise could not give. Ice Cream and Fruit we call these funds and we should be very grateful for any donation toward them.

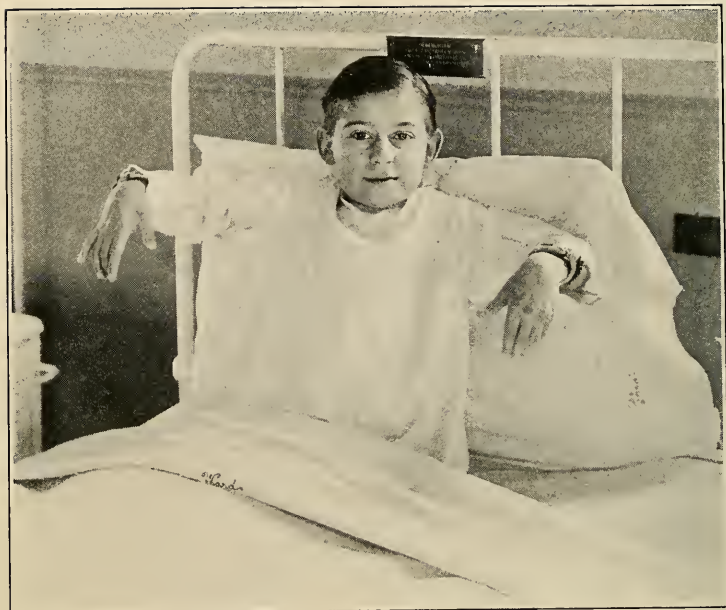

Christmas last year was a very happy time. The hospital and dispensary patients were remembered and many of their families as well. One hundred Christmas dinners were distributed. Mrs. Brewster and Mrs. Young gave trees for the hospital and dispensary, and Mrs. Sloane gave each child a present and books to the nurses. Mrs. Pyne sent presents for the dispensary patients. Each child found a stocking in the morning, given by the Guilds, as well as other toys. Mrs. Cutting, Mrs. Douglas Robinson, Mrs. Dickey, and Mrs. Talmage made up a purse to be distributed among the maids. Mrs. Warren gave the turkeys, and Mrs. Pyne and Mrs. Murray ice cream and cake for the Christmas dinner. The season's joy was happily brought into the lives of many to whom it had, unfortunately, long been a stranger, and all were heartily grateful.

In concluding our report, is it necessary this year of all others, when the calamity, the pain and suffering of the life of a cripple has been brought home to us so vitally in the past few months, to appeal for money to carry on the work of alleviation to which our institution is devoted? Surely, the mere thought that this burden can be lifted by putting the means into the hands of those who stand ready, should be sufficient, and the work need not be curtailed, because of the lack of them. Our city has given much, hearts were deeply moved last summer and correspondingly generous contributions were made to meet the public need. But this terrible disease leaves behind it such a harvest of misfortune, that the need is not of a day or a year, but of many years of patient and skillful devotion if ultimate cure is to be effected. And because of this, we implore that no one will weary of our importunity when we beg for the continued and increased support which alone will enable us to attain this end.

Respectfully submitted,

ELIZABETH STEWART HAMILTON,
Secretary.

VICTIMS OF 1916 EPIDEMIC INFANTILE PARALYSIS

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

*To the Trustees of the New York Orthopædic
Dispensary and Hospital.*

GENTLEMEN:

The first year in the new building has proved it to be well adapted to the needs of the institution. The ten-bed ward units, besides providing life-giving air and sunlight, make for quietness, for the greater happiness and easier discipline of children graded by ages, for simpler quarantine in case of contagious disease, and for closer knowledge and care by the nurse of the individual patient's physical and mental requirements. As each ward has its own dressing room, it is possible to keep the wards much cooler than in the old building, and at night all heat is turned off. The recovery room, where patients are taken after operations until well out of ether—contrary to the prediction of some other hospitals—is much used and of great benefit, particularly in keeping unpleasant conditions from the children's wards. The arrangement of the operating suite itself has greatly facilitated the hospital work, and the experimental green walls have proved a success.

In the dispensary, all departments are fitting well into the places provided for them.

The cost of running the new hospital is approximately 10 per cent higher than estimated a year ago; but except for one or two minor instances this discrepancy is due to increased prices and wages. The costs for the year just closed are not representative, for the reason that we occupied the old building for four months of the fiscal year, and for half of the remaining eight months used but two-thirds of our hospital beds, or ten less than in the old building. The result is that while the hospital cost $62,000, instead of $40,000, as a year ago, an increase of 55 per cent., the increase in days treatment was only 17 per cent. The cost per patient day was $2.28, where the last year in the old building it was $1.75. The full capacity of the new building is 37 per cent. greater than the old building. The cost this current year in the report submitted to the Finance Committee, is estimated to be 73 per cent. greater than the old building: 10 per cent. of this is due to the increased prices, but the balance is due to increased facilities for the care of patients. Sunshine and fresh air come high in the city. So do sufficient nurses, housed so as to promote their comfort and happiness and the consequent higher character of the nursing. So does plenty of good food, prepared under sanitary conditions, cooked so as to invite appetite, and served hot at the child's bedside. These things all cost money. Is it worth it? The purpose of this institution is to improve the condition of the cripple as certainly, as rapidly, and in as large numbers as possible. The construction of the new building and the organization of the work all contribute directly to these ends and in order of importance—as named. Even if we could not show in figures that the new building produced better results; the fact would be morally certain, and the means as justifiable as a scientifically clean operating room. The number of hospital beds was purposely kept small, so that the intimate, personal character of the work need not suffer; but with the idea, also, of further reducing the time spent by each patient in the hospital, through more efficient care, and through the home-treatment by our visiting nurses. It is pertinent to note that the 612 patients cared for in the hospital the past year cost precisely the same amount which the 427 cared for two years ago cost, namely $102 each. This is a figure that bears watching. A low per patient day cost may be a mark of poor work; poor work would increase the cost per patient, as each patient would have to remain longer in the hospital.

The cost per treatment in the dispensary, this year, was 64 cents where last year is was 63 cents and the year before 72 cents.

The increase in our visiting nurses, this fall, from seven to fifteen, marks a new epoch in the work of both hospital and dispensary. Not only does it make it possible to redouble our efforts to cut down the tremendous waste attached to most medical service—because the good results of hospital treatment are not clinched in the home, and because dispensary attendance is fickle and irregular; but it enables us further to shorten the hospital stay by systematic home treatment, and to carry treatment to the homes of those not able to come as often as necessary to the dispensary. In the aftermath of the infantile paralysis epidemic this is proving particularly valuable. The whole success of the convalescent treatment of the children paralyzed depends not so much upon the person in the clinic who gives the child massage or exercise three times a week, as upon the mother who cares for the child all of every day; and in the teaching, winning, and keeping of this cooperation, the nurse in the home can accomplish what the assistant in a crowded clinic can hardly attempt.

I shall not give space to the infantile paralysis epidemic because the hospital's part in it has already been chronicled. It may be interesting to note, however, that ever since the epidemic of 1907, the infantile paralysis cases have, on an average, constituted 17 per cent. of the patients treated in the dispensary, reaching the highest point in 1915, when there were under treatment 1,687. From this summer's epidemic, we are now treating in the dispensary something over 500 children, which—at the last report—was about one-sixth of all those under treatment in this city. Thanks to the extensive experience already indicated and to our new equipment, we have been able to meet the demands of this sudden increment; but it has put us all on our mettle, and has involved unexpected expense.

COUNTRY BRANCH

The Country Branch ended the year just closed with a deficit of $3,700. The cost per patient day was $1.73, where last year it was $1.79 and the year before $1.77. This lower cost is partly due to an increase in the number of patients; but it is only fair to point out that in 1913 and again in 1914, when the same number of beds as this year were in use, and the prices of supplies were much lower, the cost per patient day was the same, $1.73.

It looked a month ago as if we should again have to close a ward; but Miss Watson has come to the rescue, wiping out the existing deficit, providing that there shall be none at the end of this year, and providing, further, for the opening of the two wards in the main building, which were closed shortly after the new wings were added in 1909. This gives thirty more beds, a total of 134; more than have ever before been available, and a much needed acquisition this year of the paralysis epidemic.

The average age of our children this year was 7.4 years, where the year before it was 8.6 years. The children under ten years numbered 88 as against 73 the year before, and the children twelve years or older 8 as against 28. We seem to be approaching the time when we shall have a fairly consistent age group, running from two years to ten, and averaging six or seven years of age. This will enable us to settle down to more systematic care, treatment, and education than has been possible in the years of changing ages.

In our school this year all the teachers, even the grade teachers, have had kindergarten training. Last year served to break up the formal, tied-down-to-a-desk schooling. This year we are building up what we hope will prove an effective method, of keeping all the children occupied, of keeping children who have attended school up to their grades, and of giving the dulled or backward children individualized, mental training, all with as little interference as possible with the sunshine, fresh-air treatment that is proving so valuable.

The study of the first ten years of the Country Branch, undertaken a year ago, was completed in June as far as the field work and initial tabulating goes, but has yet to be put in final surgical form. The study was confined to the 183 children—out of the total 215 discharged during 1904–1914—who were treated for tubercular joints. Of these, 29 had died, but of those discharged as cured only 7 had died; 32 had disappeared; and 23 were at too great a distance to be examined. Of the remaining 100, a complete social and medical investigation was made. In this group 74 were discharged cured, 15 improved, 10 unimproved, and 1 incurable. The condition of these boys and girls to-day shows only 10 with active symptoms of disease; 28 still without disease though with an inevitable increase in deformity; and 61 who are as well off in every way as the day they were discharged, 15 of them being actually in better physical condition than when discharged. Of the 10 who show active symptoms of disease, only 6 were discharged cured, 3 live in crowded tenements, 1 has had a fall, and 2 seem to have been ambitious and overworked.

In reporting upon the industrial life of these young people, it is well to note that 23 of them have no handicapping deformity, 33 a very slight handicap, and 44 a marked handicap. 39 of the 100 are still in school; 6 are unable to obtain employment, 5 of them because of subnormal intelligence; 5 are under treatment; 2 help at home; 1 is married; and 47 are commercially employed. 12 of them are stenographers, earning good wages, 6 are dress-makers, 5 clerks, 5 factory workers, 4 mechanics, 3 jewelers, 2 milliners, 1 a partner in a waist shop, and 1 runs her own car as a livery in a small town. The average wage of the girls is $7.88 a week, and of the boys $8.92—the average age being twenty years.

These social facts are interesting and important. The surgical facts will be of even more value. Both will prove an invaluable basis for comparison with the second decade of this unique work. It is my earnest desire and recommendation that the facts for the second decade be gathered cumulatively week by week. Two years of it have already passed, during which 72 children have been discharged—53 of them cured. If the skill, long months of care, and devotion, given to these children is not to be wasted, every single one of them should be kept in close touch with for a period of years, and most of them for as long as they live. Medical supervision through the dispensary and visiting nurses is not sufficient in many instances so to shape the social and industrial life of the individual as to prevent relapse. We could not undertake this for our 10,000 dispensary patients, even if they needed it; but for the few hundred with tuberculosis of the joints, who have been fortunate enough to receive the Country Branch treatment, it seems possible and essential. It is even more important to see that those who have been cured stay cured, than that additional beds are provided for new patients. Again, as last year, I recommend a permanent worker to keep in touch with our Country Branch children and families, during and after treatment in White Plains.

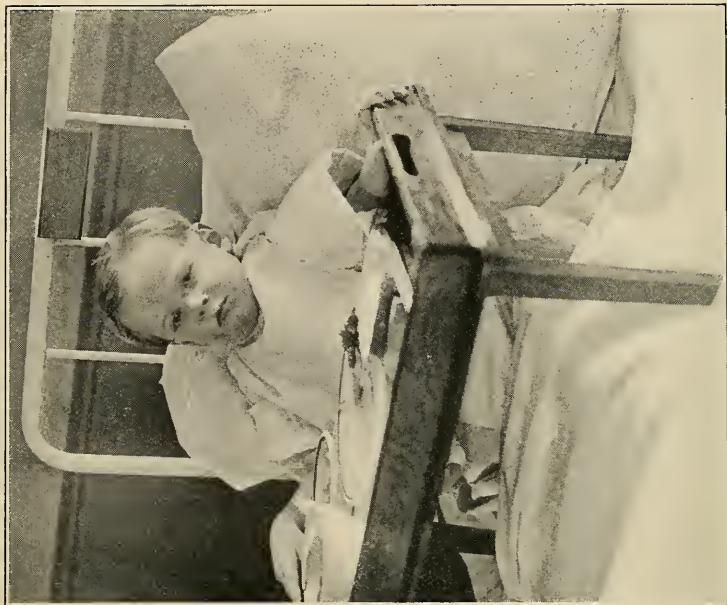

In conclusion, I would express on behalf of the staff appreciation of the splendid backing given us at all points by the boards, organizations, committees, and friends of this institution; and on behalf of the hospital extend to the following and all other cooperating agencies our sincere thanks for their assistance in aid of the crippled:

Crippled Children's Driving Fund; Association for the Aid of Crippled Children; Shut-In Society; Darrack Home for Crippled Children; Rhinelander School; Seaside Home for Crippled Children, Arverne, L. I.; Hebrew Sanitarium, Rockaway, L. I.; Huguenot, S. I.; Country Home for Crippled Children, Westfield, N. J.; National Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild; After-Care Committee Infantile Paralysis Cases.

MORE INFANTILE PARALYSIS CASES

REPORT OF THE SURGEON-IN-CHIEF

*To the Trustees of the New York Orthopædic
Dispensary and Hospital.*

GENTLEMEN:

During the year ending September 30, 1916, 10,921 patients were treated in your institution. Of this number, 4,482 were new patients who came to the institution for the first time. The remaining number, 6,439, were continued under treatment from last year. This is an increase of 560 over the total number treated last year, or 5 per cent.

Table No. 1 shows the classification of these patients and that there were 1,329 cases of joint tuberculosis, 1,060 cases of non-tubercular deformities of the spine, 3,685 deformities of the feet, 635 cases of bow-legs and knock-knees, 2,053 paralytic deformities, largely those due to infantile paralysis, leaving 2,319 unclassified, who were suffering from a great variety of deforming diseases.

Table No. 2 shows the results of treatment. Eight hundred and eleven patients were discharged cured, 1,252 relieved, making a total of 2,063 individuals restored to such a condition of health that they required no further surgical care. Two were discharged for neglect, 18 as incurable, 27 died, 1,198 received no further treatment after their first visit, and were discharged as not treated, and the remaining 7,613 were continued under treatment at the end of the year.

Table No. 3 is the detail of the work done in caring for these patients. The total number of visits made to the Dispensary was 42,260. Nurses made 15,579 visits to 6,290 patients at their homes. Surgeons made 576 visits to patients at their homes, making a grand total of 64,897 visits, an increase over last year of 14,143, or 28 per cent.

In the Brace Shop:—The number of new instruments made was 4,216, the number repaired 7,532, the amount charged for apparatus $12,472, and the amount collected from patients $9,450.

Among the points of interest to which I want to call your attention are, first the fact that, as you know, I anticipated a possible reduction in our work upon moving the institution; this, as you see, has not happened. Second, a very large increase in our Visiting Nurses' department, which is of very great value and is rendering a service to an increasing number of patients each year.

City Hospital:—There were 66 patients in the wards on October 1, 1915, during the year 546 have been admitted, making a total of 612 patients receiving hospital treatment. Eleven of this number died, 356 were discharged improved, leaving 65 on October 1, 1916. The total number of free days' care of patients was 25,936 the number of days of care paid for by the patients was 1,391, making a total of 27,327. The average number of patients per day in the wards was 45, and the average duration of their stay in the wards was forty-five days.

Table No. 6, the operative table, shows that 420 patients were operated upon and 703 operations were performed, an increase in patients operated on of 93 and in operations of 73.

In considering the hospital work, the fact must be held in mind that we opened our new building on January 5th, but that only sixty beds were used until April, and the full capacity was from April until July only, when the top floor, three wards, were set apart for infantile paralysis, and were used for that purpose until October 1st, during which time 53 acute cases of infantile paralysis were taken care of. These facts make the total number of patients in our hospital wards smaller than would be the case under normal conditions.

Country Branch:—The number of patients in this hospital on October 1, 1915 was 104, Thirty-five were admitted through the year, 32 discharged cured, 6 as incurable, leaving 101 on October 1st. The total number of free days' care was 36,586, the number of days of care paid for by the patients 631, making a total of 37,217.

The opening of our new building on January 5th marked the beginning of a new era in the development of our institution. With its completion and our Country Branch, our equipment for dealing with the chronic cripple becomes complete. We are not only prepared for the children but the adult as well, as with 100 beds, we have set apart 80 for children, 10 for men and 10 for women. It is no longer possible to neglect the adult in an orthopaedic hospital, either men or women, as we are constantly faced with the problem of dealing with bread-winners, both men and women, of the most active period of life, who need short hospital treatment to put them back where they can successfully bear their burdens; while always emphasis will be placed upon the children.

As has been emphasized to you many times in the past, the great volume of work in orthopaedic surgery must always be done in the home through the Dispensary, thus the latter department is of primary importance, as hospital treatment, in the great majority of cases, is only an incident, though one of great importance, of short duration in comparison to the long continued treatment necessary through the Dispensary. So in planning our building we have provided a comparatively small hospital with a large Dispensary, and in the development of the latter, does the former become of service to increasingly large numbers. As a means to this end we have gradually developed our Visiting Nurses' department until it has become really a Home Hospital Department, because through it, we send out, in the person of these nurses, hospital efficiency in the treatment of these patients in their homes. This is not only a more economic way to deal with the chronic cripple, but it is much better for the individual. As this department has become more efficient, it has been possible to discharge patients from the hospital in a much shorter time, thus making the beds available for a much larger number of patients. This is illustrated by the fact that ten years ago, the average stay of patients in the ward was seventy-three days, last year forty-five days. The latter figure, I believe, will be very much diminished, thus increasing the service of the hospital.

As has been indicated above, and as you all know, our institution in the past ten years has developed from a comparatively small one to a very large one. The total number of patients treated ten years ago was 4,228, the total number treated last year was 10,921. This is a tremendous growth, and gives us some conception of what sort of future we must prepare for.

This report should not be closed without a word being said of the conspicuous service this institution has rendered to this community by placing three of the wards of the hospital at the disposal of the Commissioner of Health for the treatment of acute cases of Infantile Paralysis from July to October. Fifty-one cases were admitted during this period and eight died; the remaining are progressing in the most satisfactory way, none having developed any deformity or had any interruption in the progress of their recovery. In addition to this we have under treatment now over 500 cases from the recent epidemic. How many we will eventually have, no one can tell, as they have only recently been liberated from quarantine, and many of them will have to go through the hands of a lot of organizations before they reach those institutions prepared for their treatment.

If I have fatigued you with suggestions and burdened you with problems, may I say that if you will stand day by day in the dispensary and see child after child brought to us suffering from crippling disease, whose lives we may transform, you will find there instead of fatigue an inspiration; and see instead of burdens, opportunities for service to future citizens.

Respectfully submitted,

RUSSELL A. HIBBS, M. D.

Surgeon-in-Chief.

REPORT FROM THE COUNTRY BRANCH

*To the Trustees of the New York Orthopædic
Dispensary and Hospital.*

GENTLEMEN:

During the last year the Gary System has been thoroughly tested at the Country Branch, and the difficulty of keeping the children in the open air, and yet giving them the rudiments of a simple education, has been very well met by the teachers; and the nurses have grappled successfully with their problems, which are the result of trying a new system.

It is the opinion of physicians that taking the children at so early an age, the general length of time needed for cure will not in many cases be over a year, so that a larger number of children are benefited.

During the next year, the Country Branch will be run at its full capacity, as the prevalence of infantile paralysis has so taxed the Orthopædic hospitals, that cases such as are usually treated at the Country Branch require more room for them there.

I tender my sincere thanks to all those who have contributed to the well being and pleasure of the children by entertainments and gifts of various kinds, and to the young lady who has devoted two mornings every week, to instructing them in singing and playing the piano, which added very much to the Christmas celebration.

Respectfully submitted,

EMILY A. WATSON, Chairman.

ORTHOPÆDIC GUILD REPORT

The annual report of the Orthopædic Guild is most encouraging. Our active membership at present is thirty-seven, associate membership is thirty-four, and honorary, one, making a total of seventy-two. Owing to our removal to the new hospital, we have largely increased our supply of linen and clothing, in one linen closet. At present we are supporting twenty beds instead of the fifteen beds previously cared for. Owing to our extra contribution to the Orthopædic Hospital Linen Closet, we were unable to pay for the third bed, as was our custom. Our appeals Christmas and Easter have met with generous response. We sincerely hope next year to largely increase our work.

Respectfully submitted,

FLORENCE B. FLEMING,

Secretary.

TWENTY-FIRST ANNUAL REPORT OF THE ORTHO- PÆDIC HOSPITAL SEWING SOCIETY

The annual report of the Orthopædic Hospital Sewing Society is most satisfactory.

While we regret the resignations of three members we are glad to announce that during the year 5 new members have qualified.

The retirement of two of our officers, Mrs. Walter L. Suydam, President, and Mrs. Arthur Mason Jones, Chairman of the Working Committee, is keenly felt by all: as their long and faithful service has been an inspiration to every member of the society.

We cannot be too pleased that the work of the society has more than kept pace with the growth of the hospital. Mrs. Clark, Chairman of the Working Committee, reports the following: 3,419 articles bought, 1,279 articles given out, 2,140 articles on hand.

Respectfully submitted,

WARD DRESSING ROOM—QUIET ROOM BEYOND

SECRETARY'S REPORT—SOCIAL SERVICE COMMITTEE

1915-1916.

The past year of the Social Service Committee has begun very encouraging, and the need and importance of our work was greatly emphasized throughout this past summer during the tragic epidemic of poliomyelitis. Again we have supported a visiting nurse, Miss Creelman, and her strength and time were taxed to the utmost with a total of 3,132 visits; of which 1,086 were patients visited, the others being social service, investigating, and miscellaneous visits.

Through the continued generosity of most of our members, the special fund for providing a nurse for the Summer Home at Westfield, N. J., was continued. This nurse, an old patient of the hospital, remained there throughout the season (18 weeks) and most ably and sympathetically supervised the treatment and the care of the fifteen children. We were especially thankful that these little patients were safe from all danger during the epidemic and that their progress to greater strength and health continued unhampered.

At present all the children's beds are occupied, but as soon as they are able to leave they return to their homes, as with the help of Miss Read and the fourteen visiting nurses they can be treated there just as well. This saves the patients from fatigue and exertion attending their going or being brought to the dispensary, and gives room in the hospital for more serious cases.

This Committee, together with the other Guilds, provided Christmas stockings. Our contribution was for 22 children of various ages, and 7 adults. Two of our kind friends sent a canary bird for the three wards on the sixth floor of the hospital to help cheer and brighten the littlest patients.

Another small fund has been collected and is to be known as "Special Fund for Parents' Railroad Fare to White Plains," and has been put in the care of Miss Read, who will manage the careful disbursement of it. This fund will enable many poor parents to visit their children, when through lack of means they could not otherwise do so.

We are beginning the New Year with many thanks to our visiting nurse, and Miss Read, whose help, courage, and indefatigable work is so helpful and inspiring to us. And above all, do we retain the firm confidence in the continued generosity and kindness of our many loyal friends without whose aid our work could not be accomplished.

ELIZABETH A. ACHELIS,

Secretary.

MAIN ENTRANCE

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

To the Board of Supervisors and the Board of Trustees.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN :

The close of the second year in the new building marks a large increase in the work of all departments of the Hospital and Dispensary. The tables published in this year book give these increases in full detail, but for those who have not the opportunity to study these tables, some of the more striking increases may properly be mentioned here.

Two hundred more patients were treated in the Hospital this year than during 1916. Two thousand more were treated in the Dispensary this year than last; the total number of patients treated in the Dispensary having now exceeded 13,000 per annum. The number of patients visited by nurses has quite doubled and the total number of visits made by the nurses has reached within three of 35,000.

Such a marked increase in our work has, of course, been accompanied by increased expenditures, but the Treasurer's statements will show that these increased expenses have been largely covered by increased receipts, so that the deficit for the past year ($25,118.93) is only $4,200 more than the deficit for 1916. The fact that this deficit is not larger, in view of the increased costs of fuel and housekeeping supplies and wages, reflects great credit on the administration of the Hospital, the departmental heads and the committees of the Board of Supervisors. The year's deficit has been met (as was done last year) by contributions from the Board of Trustees.

The members of the Board of Supervisors have done notable work in obtaining gifts for the Endowment Fund, and the very material success of their efforts is greatly appreciated. When it is realized that if our income can be increased by $25,000 annually, we can expect to be free from the burden of a yearly deficit in operation, the goal so greatly desired seems not to be out of reach, and when conditions are restored to normal we may be confident that our hopes will be realized.

Mention should be made at this time of certain additions to our work which have been made possible through the generosity of a friend of the Hospital who thus in a very practical way testifies to her interest in the welfare of the crippled child. Her gift of $10,000 has enabled us to add five visiting nurses to our staff and to install, equip and operate a pathological laboratory. The successful operation of the XRay department and the services of an anaesthetist are also the results of this annual gift.

Our Hospital has been perhaps no more affected by the war than the general hospitals in New York, but nine of our staff (seven of whom are doctors) have left to enter army service. That this Hospital will, however, play an increasingly important role in war work is already apparent. Army surgeons are being detailed to this institution for training in Orthopaedic surgery, twenty-eight having already registered to date. This clinical instruction will, no doubt, be continued under the direction of our surgical staff and is likely to develop into a work of great value and importance. It will be a satisfaction to the members of both Boards and to the many friends of the institution to know that we are doing this work which will be of such importance to the welfare of the men wounded in the war.

The work of the Country Branch has been enlarged this past year by the reopening of the wards in the main building, increasing the number of children cared for by thirty. This action was taken with the approval of Miss Watson, whose supplemental gifts for this purpose have enabled us to close the year with a surplus in the Country Branch account.

The work done at this hospital at White Plains seems increasingly important as the years go by. The lower age of the children cared for means an earlier, quicker improvement, so that the average length of stay in the hospital is reduced. This means, of course, that a much larger number of patients is treated per annum. In 1917 the average age of the children was 6.5 years while in 1916 this figure stood at 7.4 years. The records show that of the patients at the Country Branch, most of whom are suffering from tubercular affections of the joints, 75% are discharged cured; and by cured is meant a complete cure and the restoration of the child to normal health. This result is possible through taking the children at an earlier age than was the practice formerly, when the most that could be hoped for was to arrest the progress of the disease, the child, however, being left crippled.

The installation of a sewer connecting this hospital with the trunk line in the highway, thus relieving a long standing difficulty, is the only material change to be noted, but mention should be made of the success of the gardens planted and cared for by the children during the past summer, the produce from them going far to supply the needs of the hospital.

* * * * *

In closing, I wish to express on behalf of the Trustees their appreciation of the devoted work of the Surgeon-in-Chief and his assistants, the earnest and faithful performance of their duties by the Superintendent and the administrative heads and staff, and the wise and helpful co-operation of the Board of Supervisors, whose constant thought and endeavor are always for the welfare of the institution.

Respectfully submitted,

ROBERT S. BREWSTER,
President.

December 13, 1917.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

To the Trustees of the New York Orthopædic

Dispensary and Hospital.

GENTLEMEN :

We have the honor to present to you the Report of the Board of Supervisors, and in so doing express our keen appreciation of the circumstances in which we now find ourselves, and, to some degree, our realization of what they may lead to.

Each year has shown more clearly the need of such an institution as ours, but now that Orthopædic surgery has become a vital factor in the preventive and reconstructive treatment of the wounded in battle, we recognize more and more forcibly how fortunate it has proved, that our Hospital was built just when it was, enabling us to meet the two great emergencies which have arisen in the last two years, the Infantile Paralysis epidemic and this work of immeasurable importance which is now presented to us.

Our Auxiliary Societies, the Orthopædic Guild, the Orthopædic Hospital Sewing Society, the Junior Guild and the Social Service Committee have continued their activities as in former years and we are indebted to them for much of the success we have achieved wherever their co-operation could forward our work.

The Orthopædic Guild has supported three beds and taken entire charge of the two Girls' Wards as heretofore.

The Orthopædic Hospital Sewing Society has replenished our linen closet when necessary, supplying all linen for Hospital needs excepting the Girls' Wards, given donations of blankets, etc. and supported a Free Bed.

The Junior Guild has supported a Free Bed and taken especial interest in the pleasure and comfort of our very young patients and also provided clothing for them.

The activities of the Social Service Committee are so numerous and varied that we must refer to their report for details while expressing our deep appreciation of their help.

The Visiting Nurse supported by this Committee is of invaluable assistance adding one more to those already on the list of this most important branch of our work. Seven others of the total thirteen have been supported by, or through, members of our Board whose benevolence thus renders assistance of incalculable value to the Hospital treatment, Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. Cutting, Mrs. Reid, Mrs. Young, Mrs. Sloane, Mrs. F. Vanderbilt and the Children of Loving Service.

Miss Caroline White has again most generously supported the massage treatment for the past year.

Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, with great generosity, provided funds for the equipment of the new dental treatment now established in the Hospital.

Our School work was continued through the kindness of its various friends, and our patients again did great credit, on their return to their Public School classes, to the interest and zeal of our teacher, Miss Morton, whose untiring faithful service is responsible for her pupils' success.

We beg our friends continued interest and support. The School is an expense we feel is absolutely justified, one it is incumbent upon us to meet for the sake of our patients' future.

Our special funds were supported through the kindness of those who were interested in giving our patients the simple luxuries and extra comforts we are thus enabled to obtain for them. Ice cream and fruit are provided by donations to these funds and we beg for increased interest in them.

Our Christmas was made happy for young and all, by gifts and entertainments bringing the spirit of the time into our midst. Christmas dinners were distributed to families of the patients by the Supervisors as well as some by Trustees.

Mrs. Sloane gave each patient in the Wards a toy and a present to each nurse, besides a handsome donation to the Visiting Nurses Poor Fund.

Mrs. Young and Mrs. Brewster gave Christmas trees and presents and Christmas greens, and Mrs. Pyne and Mrs. Tilford gave toys to the Dispensary patients. Mrs. Douglas Robinson, Mrs. Senff and Miss Hamilton made up a purse for the maids. Ice cream and cake for the Hospital patients were given by Mrs.

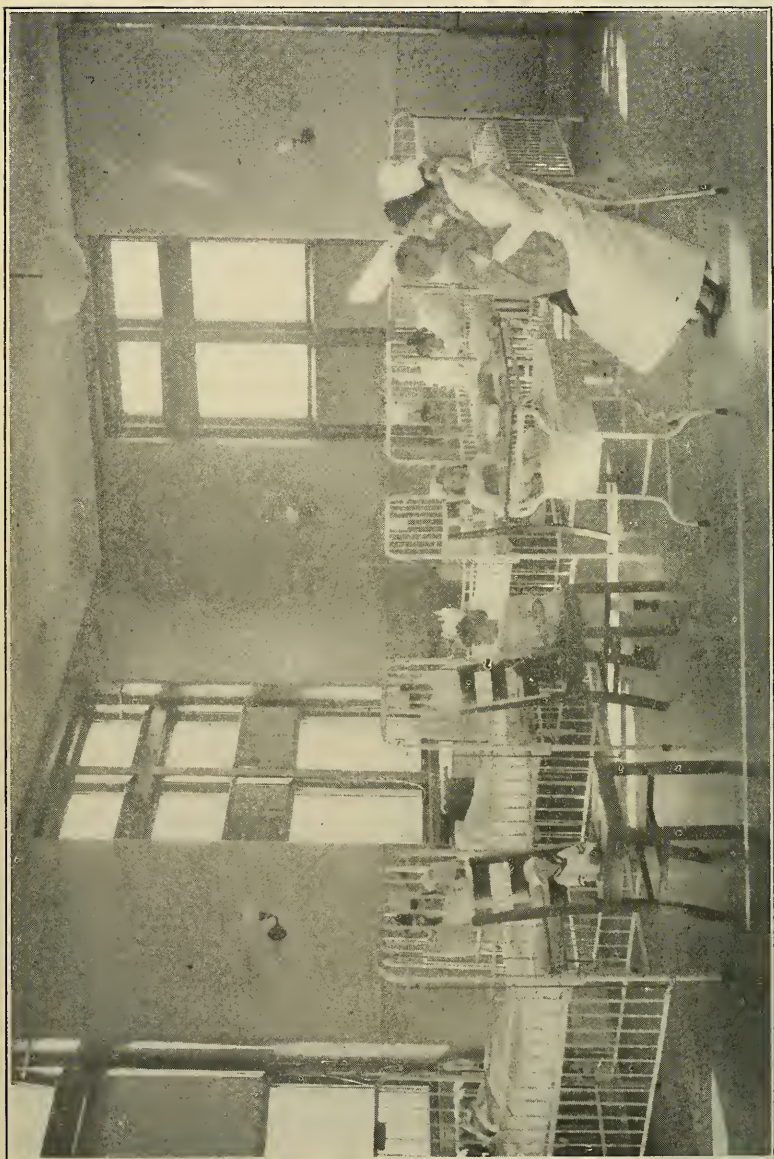

Pyne and Mrs. Murray, and Mrs. Warren gave turkeys for the Christmas dinner. The Guilds gave stockings and toys. On behalf of our patients we most gratefully express our thanks.

To help our depleted Treasury, our Entertainment Committee organized a very successful afternoon of Moving Pictures; combined with most amusing films were some showing the Hospital work, giving the public, who otherwise would not have been able to form any conception of its varied character, a very definite idea of what is accomplished. The result was most gratifying in the interest aroused, as well as financially, and our thanks are gratefully offered the Chairman, Mrs. Alexander, and her Committee for their unstinted efforts and zeal, to which we owe such success.

In making an appeal for continued and increased financial support of our Hospital, without which it cannot exist, we must call attention to the crisis in all Hospital work which has developed owing to high prices and scarcity of all commodities necessary to it, and to the fact, already alluded to in this report, that an institution of the character of the Orthopædic Hospital has become more necessary than ever to the community at large. With these considerations before us we confidently ask our friends and the generous public to give the money so sorely needed to meet the imperative call made upon us. Our children cannot be allowed to suffer, our men cannot remain crippled when both can be prevented. It may mean sacrifice, and certainly mean great effort, perhaps extreme difficulty, but how can these be compared to what there is at stake?

Respectfully submitted.

ELIZABETH STEWART HAMILTON,
Secretary.

BABIES' WARD

REPORT OF THE SURGEON-IN-CHIEF

*To the Trustees of the New York Orthopædic
Dispensary and Hospital.*

GENTLEMEN:

During the year ending September 30, 1917, the total number of cases treated in the institution was 13,077, which is an increase of 2,156 over the number treated in 1916, or 20%. Of this number, 5,408 were new patients applying for treatment the first time, and the remainder were those continued under treatment from last year.

Table No. 1 gives the classification of these patients and shows that there were 1,463 cases of joint tuberculosis, 4,789 cases of deformities of the feet, 998 cases of non-tuberculous deformities of the spine, 689 cases of bow-legs and knock-knees, 2,758 cases of paralytic deformities, and the remainder were suffering from a great variety of chronic deforming diseases.

Table No. 2 shows the result of treatment. 1,069 were discharged cured, 2,691 discharged relieved, making a total of 3,760 individuals restored to conditions of health, where they no longer needed treatment. Ten were discharged incurable, 4 for neglect, 69 died, 1,097 had no treatment after their first visit and were discharged, and 8,137 were continued under treatment at the end of the year.

Table No. 3 shows the detail of work in the treatment of these cases in so far as such detail may be tabulated. The total number of visits made by patients to the Dispensary was 57,134, the total number of visits made to patients at their homes by surgeons was 250, and the visiting nurses made 34,997 visits to 12,338 patients at their homes, which makes a grand total of visits of 97,789, which is an increase of 32,892 over last year, or 50%.

Table No. 4 is a detailed report of the work done in the manufacture of braces, and shows the number of new instruments made was 5,116, an increase of 825 over last year, and the number repaired 8,330, an increase of 798. The amount charged for apparatus was $17,499.95, and the amount collected for braces from patients $13,250.30. Please remember that this is practically a contribution from our patients of this amount of money to the institution, and it must always be remembered that our work is confined wholly to the poor, and that whether a patient is able to pay for a brace or not, it is always supplied.

City Hospital:—The number of patients in the City Hospital on October 1st, 1916, was 65 and the number received during the year was 751, the number discharged 725, 8 died, and the remainder, 83, continued under treatment in the wards October 1st, 1917. This is an increase of 205 over the number treated in the Hospital last year, or 27%. The average number of patients per day in the wards was 89 as compared with 75 last year, an increase of 14. The average duration of stay of each patient was 40 days, as compared with 45 last year. This diminution of the duration of stay of the patients is due to the development of our Home Hospital Department through the visiting nurses. We are carrying through these nurses, to the homes of the patients, hospital efficiency, and are able thereby, to send patients home much earlier without any interruption in their surgical care. This is not only better for the patient in many instances, but makes our beds available for a very much larger number of patients each year. The development of this department will continue, and is one of the ways of meeting the tremendous Hospital needs we face.

The number of patients operated upon was 649, which is an increase of 187 over last year, and the number of operations performed 932, an increase of 220.

Country Branch:—The number of patients in the Hospital on October 1st, 1916, was 101; 88 had been admitted, 60 discharged cured, 1 died, leaving 128 October 1st, 1917. The number of days of free care was 36,931 and the number of days of care partially paid for by the patients 4,940, which is an increase all along the line, because of the fact that two wards have been opened this year, giving us accomodation for a larger number of patients.

Any careful analysis of the foregoing brief statement of facts in regard to our work must impress one with the very large increase in every department. This is in spite of the fact that our staff has been seriously broken up by several of our surgeons joining the Army, and I cannot say too much for the devotion of those left in carrying on this very large volume of work.

We have had, during this past year, for the first time, a resident dentist, and his work has been very helpful, both in our Dispensary and Hospital, and it seems necessary to have a dentist as a permanent member of our staff, as we now know that the condition of the teeth has a very important relation to many types of joint disease.

Never before in the history of the institution have we had a well organized pathological department, until during the past year, and it has been of inestimable value in our work.

Respectfully submitted,

RUSSELL A. HIBBS, M. D.

Surgeon-in-Chief.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

*To the Trustees of the New York Orthopædic
Dispensary and Hospital.*

GENTLEMEN :

The year just closed was the first complete fiscal year in the new building. It therefore gives us a measure of the cost of running our splendid new equipment,—with the qualification due to abnormal prices. Allowing $4,500 for special equipment and entertainment not properly chargeable to running expenses the cost of the Hospital Department amounted to $78,775. This is 26% more than the previous year, which corresponds to the increase in at least one other New York hospital; but as three months of our last year was spent in the old building, so that we had an increase of 20% in patient days' care, this is not a discreditable showing. The cost per patient day was $2.35 as against $2.28 a year ago; but our new pathological laboratory alone equals that 7 cent increase. There were unexpected increases, particularly in fuel, steel for brace shop, and surgical and household supplies; but I would point out that in all the housekeeping departments, the cost of supplies was kept within the budget. This includes food, which in addition, was one cent lower per patient day than the year previous. This was made possible by the increased number of patients, but nevertheless reflects great credit upon the housekeeper and her staff.

A year ago I drew your attention to a new standard of efficiency, namely the cost of caring for each patient. Last year, it cost $102 to care for each of the 612 patients. This year, with 816 patients, it cost $96 for each. That is because, while the total cost was increasing 26%, the added equipment and efficiency made it possible to take care of 33% more patients.

The running expenses of the Dispensary Department for the first complete fiscal year were $61,467. This is nearly $20,000 more than a year ago, but $4,000 of this was in the Brace Shop and is covered by increased returns from patients, and $8,000 was for additional visiting nurses, provided by special funds. The cost per treatment was 64 cents, which is the same as last year, and one cent more than for the last year in the old building. In recording this cost per treatment, it should be pointed out that $19,000 of the cost is for the Brace Shop, and $14,000 for the visiting nurses, neither of which most dispensaries have. Still another item is $7,000 for salaries of surgeons. I mention this because it is at once a distinctive and basic factor in our Dispensary organization. Patients, social agencies that bring patients, and visiting doctors here for study, frequently remark that the service to patients in our Dispensary is different from that found elsewhere; more individualized, more concerned with the patient and less with getting through. This is partly because of the standard set by the Surgeon-in-Chief, partly because the salaries paid make it possible to insist upon the standard, and partly because the salaries make it possible for the attending surgeons to take the time to conform to the standard without too great a sacrifice.

Reference is made by Dr. Hibbs to the Home Hospital Department, into whose care 165 patients have been discharged the past year, requiring 1,844 home visits. Before each patient is admitted to the Hospital for operation, it is determined, first, whether the case is the kind that can be safely discharged a short time after operation, provided a skilled nurse visits the patient in his home each day; and secondly, whether the home is the kind that can give proper care and comfort. The 165 patients above referred to stayed in the Hospital, some of them a few days, some of them two weeks; the average was one week. Without our Home Hospital Department, they would have had to remain in the Hospital an average of at least seven weeks. That means a saving to the Hospital of 6,930 days' care, or an addition to its capacity equivalent to 19 beds. In money, it represents the difference between 6,930 hospital days' care at $2.35 a day and 1,844 home treatments at 50 cents a visit, or a saving of $15,000—enough to pay for the whole visiting nurse staff. But that is not all. The families judged capable of caring for such patient at home are most often those able to pay board, so that, on the average, the family as well as the Hospital saves.

"Home care of convalescents" has been the subject of a number of notable conferences in New York the past year. Here is a definite contribution to the subject. We have been practicing it for years, but not until our visiting nursing staff was so splendidly augmented a year ago was it possible to go at it in an intensive and extensive manner.

The cases coming to us from the Infantile Paralysis epidemic of 1916, have been absorbed, as far as our statistical tables go, in the cases coming to us from previous epidemics; but it is worth noting that 19 died during the year, that 55 were discharged as recovered; and that there remain under treatment and observation 347.

I wish here to acknowledge the great assistance given us by the New York Committee on the After Care of Infantile Paralysis in the care of these patients. This Committee has contributed $5,000 toward the extra expense we were put to, and has paid for braces of patients unable to provide their own to the amount of $1,000.

I would mention further the very special co-operation given us by the Country Home for Crippled Children, in Westfield, N. J., which takes so many of our children for the much needed, long-term summer outing; The Burke Foundation for Convalescents; Association for the Aid of Crippled Children; House of the Holy Comforter; Rhinelander School; National Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild; and the Playground and Recreation Association of America; all of whom have contributed vitally to the success of our work.

COUNTRY BRANCH.

A year ago, the Country Branch was provided with funds to open the two wards in the main building which had remained vacant during the previous seven years. This added 29% to the capacity, but as the wards were not opened until February, the actual increase in days treatments for the year was 12½%.

The increase in running expenses for the year was 16%; the cost per patient day $1.80 as against $1.73 the year before, or 4% more. The expenditures for the year were $2,000 less than anticipated, the income $400 less, leaving a balance of $1,600. This favorable showing is due in great part to the newly provided assistant superintendent and her housekeeper, who by careful planning and supervision at every point have already more than saved the cost of the increased personnel. The cost of food, for instance, with 20 more children to provide for, aided by a fine year in the garden, was $250 less during the first six months of the new regime than the same months the year before. These, and other economies, let me make clear, could not have been effected without the patriotic co-operation of all members of the household, who are thus "doing their bit" for their Country, without complaint or praise.

An estimate of the expenses for the current year has just been made, showing an expected increase of $12\frac{1}{2}\%$. This allows for a $11\frac{1}{2}\%$ increase in patients and for increased costs all along the line, the cost per patient day, however, remaining the same, \$1.80. This substantial increase has again been provided for by Miss Watson; so there will be no closing down of wards during what promises to be such a hard year in the homes of our prospective patients.

The average age of the children has dropped another ten months, to $6\frac{1}{2}$ years. Five years ago it was 11 years. With the surgical advantages of this early treatment have come some medical disadvantages. For the first time this year we have had an epidemic of vaginitis, which kept twelve of our children shut up in an isolation ward for weeks, and cost \$1,000.

With the Country Branch opened to capacity for the first time since 1909, and with the age group approaching a permanent basis, it seemed wise to make a special effort to standardize nursing care and education. Accordingly when Mrs. S. M. Bridgeman, who had been school principal and the superintendent in the early days of the Country Branch, became available, the position of assistant superintendent was revived, some of the results of which have already been noted. Fortunately, Mrs. Bridgeman was able to persuade a former principal of our school, Miss E. S. Roe, to return for a year to help work out a permanent plan suited to the physical and educational needs of our present children. This project is now well under way and promises excellent results. In particular, I would mention the part that music and play are given in the school activities, with renewed emphasis, however, upon the fundamentals of elementary education.

The advantage of our treatment of joint tuberculosis is that the required immobility is attained, not by the confinement of the child to a board or a bed, but by the confinement of the joint by a brace, so that the child may move about as other children, except for running. It is then our problem so to plan the waking hours of the child that he may enjoy the maximum amount of food, sun, air, education, and hilarity, with the minimum danger to his own or other children's orthopædic condition.

On behalf of myself and the staff, I want to express appreciation of the splendid backing given the Hospital during the past trying year. With every department effected by the war, and all striving to fill the gaps, the loyalty and interest of the boards, committees, and friends of the institution proved a needed inspiration.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN R. HOWARD, JR.,
Superintendent.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS CHILDREN WAITING FOR MASSAGE

REPORT OF THE PATHOLOGIST

*To the Trustees of the New York Orthopædic
Dispensary and Hospital.*

GENTLEMEN :

The modern hospital laboratory is needed primarily for the purpose of aiding in establishing the diagnosis of the various conditions for which the patients are admitted. This function is performed through the appropriate clinical-pathological, chemical, bacteriological and tissue examinations, which are often supplemented by consultations between the clinicians and the pathologist.

In the larger general hospitals the laboratory is divided into from two to four sub-departments, each of which is provided with separate quarters and equipment under one direction. A minor part of the equipment is duplicated under such arrangement but this is actually an advantage, as it practically provides a constant reserve of the more commonly used apparatus and glassware. Under this arrangement, and indeed in most of the smaller hospitals, opportunity is extended to the house staff to use the laboratory equipment in their own study of hospital patients or in making themselves familiar with methods of examination in general.

In this hospital, notwithstanding the fact that its field of activity is specialized, the laboratory is required to carry out all of the different kinds of examination referred to above; and it is, therefore, necessary to maintain the special equipment appropriate to each of the different methods of procedure.

With the exception of the modern chemical methods, apparatus for which could not be installed and operated in our limited space, the laboratory is adequately equipped for the usual clinical-pathological, bacteriological and tissue examinations. A particularly valuable feature of the equipment is the convenient and roomy provision for cold storage.

In addition to its diagnostic work this laboratory performs other service. Special solutions are frequently required for therapeutic uses, such as sterile bicarbonate of soda, which is administered in the treatment of acidosis. Modern methods of treatment have often to be controlled and directed and sometimes applied by the laboratory staff. This is true of the practical application, in the treatment of infected wounds, of the various antiseptic compounds of Dakin, one of which, dichloramine-T, has been employed in some cases of osteomyelitis in this Hospital. It is also true of the application of the so-called vaccine treatment, the material for which must be prepared and carefully controlled in the laboratory.

The activities of the hospital laboratory staff should not be limited to the practical functions just discussed. Encouragement should be given, by the providing of apparatus, materials and animals, for the carrying out of research, which may or may not be directed to practical therapeutic or diagnostic ends. Opportunity for research is generally considered as a part of the compensation attached to laboratory positions, which, conversely, are attractive to experienced men according to the provision in that respect.

During the past year three subjects have been under investigation in this laboratory. The first two are connected with the phenomenon of anaphylaxis and the Wassermann reaction respectively. The third concerns the method of testing blood preliminary to the operation of transfusion; and that method we have succeeded in materially simplifying.

The laboratory staff has investigated the results of the use of the Schick test, by which we are able to determine whether an individual is or is not susceptible to diphtheria, and we have concluded that the exact information afforded by this test should be obtained in all children entering the institution. Hereafter, if diphtheria should be found to exist in the hospital we shall have to administer protective injections of antitoxin only to those children that have been found by the Schick test to be susceptible to the disease.

It has been shown by different investigators that an active immunity to diphtheria, that is apparently permanent, can be produced in 95% of susceptible children by the administration of three injections of a slightly toxic mixture of diphtheria anti-toxin and toxin. After consultation with Dr. W. H. Park, Director of the Board of Health Laboratories of New York City, we have decided to adopt the policy of immunizing all of the children in the Hospital and at the Country Branch that are found by the Schick test to be susceptible to diphtheria.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR F. COCA,
Pathologist.

REPORT OF THE COUNTRY BRANCH COMMITTEE

*To the Trustees of the New York Orthopaedic
Dispensary and Hospital.*

GENTLEMEN :—

It is with great pleasure that I am able to report that the Country Branch has escaped the Infantile Paralysis, but has had considerable sickness, which has necessitated an increased number of nurses, and in some cases special trained nurses were necessary for a short time.

I am very glad to welcome back Mrs. Bridgman who was the Superintendent of the Country Branch in its early days. The management by herself and her housekeeper has lessened expenses very much, and she arranged a Moving Picture Show for the employees, instead of giving presents as was formerly the case, which was presenting difficulties for the managers. The first picture was "Snow White," and the second Charlie Chaplin as "The Adventurer," and they were both very satisfactory.

The young girls of The Miss Tewkesbury's School have started a most helpful plan of adopting a patient, and being responsible for all his expenses, and the personal interest is very advantageous on both sides.

During the last year the Country Branch has been run at its fullest capacity, and will continue to be so for the next year. I must here acknowledge the indebtedness of the Institution to Mrs. Schottle, the House Mother, for her training and interest in the many new nurses that have come under her supervision, and her endeavors to make it seem like a home to them, and to realize its advantages.

I tender my thanks to the ladies who have taught the children how to sing—their rendition of "Adeste Fideles" at the Christmas celebration was so good that I hope another year we may have some of the old English Christmas Carols—and also to those who are instructing the children to knit, and to the many friends who have helped the Country Branch in many ways.

Respectfully submitted,

EMILY A. WATSON,
Chairman.

ORTHOPÆDIC GUILD REPORT

The past year has been one of encouragement to the members of the Guild. Our active membership, at present, is thirty-eight; associate membership is thirty-four, and honorary one—making a total of seventy-three. In spite of the serious war conditions, we have been able to meet all of our obligations. We are supporting the twenty beds as has been our custom. We have also paid for three beds and, in addition, have contributed two hundred dollars to the Infantile Paralysis Fund. We have a large supply of linen and clothing in our linen closet. The members of the Guild have responded very generously to our appeals for contributions at Easter and Christmas, which leaves us a larger balance for the year than usual.

Respectfully submitted,

FLORENCE B. FLEMING,

Secretary.

TWENTY-SECOND ANNUAL REPORT OF THE ORTHOPÆDIC HOSPITAL SEWING SOCIETY.

During the past year we have been glad to welcome several new members.

Our working committee, Mrs. Samuel Clark, chairman, reports the following:—

January 1, 1917, number of articles on hand...	1,985
Added since	1,835
		3,820
Taken out for use	1,934
		1,886
Remaining in the linen closet.....

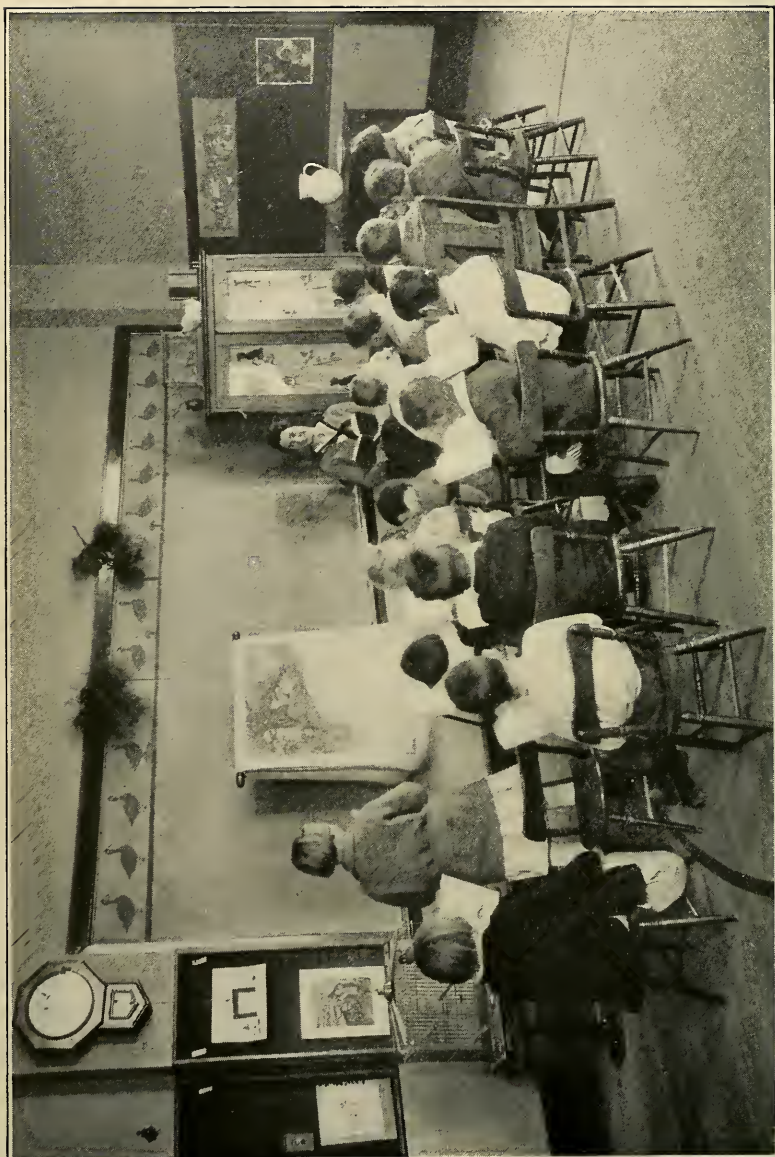

We feel greatly indebted to Mrs. Clark for having so successfully kept pace with the growth of the hospital; also to her skill in purchasing, which in spite of the rapid increase of cost of the linen, has kept the expenditure within bounds.

With the annual election of officers rapidly approaching, we cannot but regret that our president, Mrs. Collier, feels obliged to resign. She has been identified with the work of the society since its foundation, and will be keenly missed by all.

Respectfully submitted,

E. CONSTANCE SCHERMERHORN,

Secretary.

SECRETARY'S REPORT—JUNIOR GUILD

The annual report of the Junior Guild is very satisfactory. We continue to support a bed in the Girls' Ward and provide all garments for the three wards on the sixth floor.

Donations were given as usual to the Endowment, Ice Cream, and Fruit and Potato Funds. Owing to the kindness of Mrs. Alexander in lending us her ballroom, we were able to give a musicale which cleared for us $700.

Mrs. Roger's children gave some Tableaux for the benefit of the Junior Guild and made $60; part of the sum was used to buy a Victor and records for our wards.

We hope to increase our work this year.

Respectfully submitted,

URLING H. BENEDICT,
Secretary.

SECRETARY'S REPORT—SOCIAL SERVICE COMMITTEE

1916-1917

The Annual Report of the Social Service Committee is encouraging and the Committee thanks their various friends for so splendidly assisting them in their work. We regret the resignation of four of our active members, but welcome the new ones among our contributing ones.

Our nurse, Miss Creelman, has paid a little over three thousand visits—1,000 nursing visits—and over one thousand social service visits.

We have supported for one month and one week a nurse at the summer home in Westfield, N. J., and we also provided a small fund for railroad fares which Miss Read distributed to the parents of poliomyelitis cases to enable them to visit their children.

Christmas presents were again contributed by us to twenty-two boys, from 6 to 15 years of age, and to ten men.

We hope successfully to continue with our work, as it is more needed than ever before.

Respectfully submitted,

ELIZABETH ACHELIS,
Secretary.
